CUNDAY School Is of God and Will Be Preserved To the End of Time

"The Whole Sunday School Movement Had Its Rise in the Warm Pulsations of the Heart of Methodism."

By Rev. WILBUR F. PACKARD, Pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

AM profoundly convinced that the Sunday school is of God, and Sunday school is of God, and that it will be preserved to the end of time. As an Institution, it was conceived of the Holy Ghost, and born of the virgin, Hannah Ball, a Methodist, in Wycomb, Eng., A. D. 1762-12 years before Robert Raikes ever dreamed of such a thing, Indeed, he never thought of such a thing at all. Sophia Cook, another young Methodist woman, in Gloucester, had to suggest it, and prod him to it, and promise to assist him in its execution, and even then, it was an all day school, in which the Hible was not taught, and the teachers were all paid for their services, and in the first 25 years of its history the teachers were paid over 4190,000 for teaching in the Sunday school! Not until John Wesley said: Surely God hath men and women who will teach for no other reward than the Raster will sive them hereafter," did gratis teaching begin in the Sunday school. And John Wesley, himself, organized Sunday schools in the homes of his people, in Savannah, Georgia, in the year of our lord 1736, when the immortal Robert Raikes was not through teething but was in his bib, and tucker.

Had Its Rise in Methodism.

The whole Sunday school movement, as we have it today, had its rise in the warm pulsations of the heart of Methodism, which itself was the restoration of Christianity in earnest, whose divine author was wont to take children up in his arms and bless them. Even the first Sunday school of the Robert Raikes order ever planted in America was started in Virginia by the Methodists.

Methodism was then, the true ploneer. that it will be preserved to the Methodism the Pioneer.

Methodism was, then, the true pioneer of the Sunday school movement, as we see it today. Her power, her purposes and her program made the movement inevitable. Her genesis and her genius held the vital worm of its evolution.

EL PASO IS REVELATION AFTER 13 YEARS; IS A BUSY CITY

J. W. Wheeler, head of the first social settlement of Columbus, Ohlo, is back in El Passo after thirteen years' absence to investigate this city's playgrounds and social conditions. He has been referred to supervisor J. H. Stine, and secretary Gwinn of the new Associated charities.

When Mr. Wheeler left El Paso in 1902, he used to play in the municipal band, and he declared Friday that the Pass City showed a thousand and one surprises to him after his long absence. The city has swelled to big proportions since I was here, said Mr. Wheeler, and it has prosperity bulging out all over it. The Mills building is a revelation, and the size of the bank clearings and postal receipts tell a wonderful story. Bustle and hustle and progressiveness stick out all over Et Paso."

Bible lessons were arranged for a series of years. of years.

Such schools were general in Palestine in the days of Jesus, and there is reason to suppose that He was a pupil in one of these in his Nazareth home. The early Christian church recognized the ancient purpose of God as shown in all the Jewish scriptures, and especially in the last book of this macred canon. Turning to the Children.

Turning to the Children.

The last prophetic atterance before the dawn of the Christian era, closes with the promise that the next great prophet coming in the spirit of Elijan, as the Messiah's forerunner, was to introduce an era of world-wide hope, by "turning the hearts of the fathers to the children," and the very next recorded message from the skies was that of the angel Gabriel to Zechariah.

And the heavenly heraid begins just where the earthly prophet left off, by declaring of the forerunner, John the Baptist, Zechariah's son: "He shall go before the Lord... to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children... to make a ready people prepared for to make a ready people prepared for God's Plan, Starts With the Children. God's Plan, Starts With the Children.

Hence, God's plan and purpose for the saving of the world was to begin with its childhood, under faithful parental solicitude; and this fact is given prominence in both dispensations. The old lessament closes with it the new opens with it. This is the connecting link between both, and is the hinge in which both of God's testaments meet and combine with each other. It is plain that God regards it of prime, prardical importance.

The future of the home, of the church, of the nation—may, of our civilization—depends upon the moral and religious training of our young people.

An Epoch in Hible Study.

Sentence Sermons by El Paso Ministers

HERE is sad need of a revival in church attendance in El Paso. No Christian THERE is sad need of a revival in church attendance in El Paso. No Christian can live in 1000 miles of his duty who, without sufficient reason, neglects the house of God, and no reason is sufficient except a providential hindrance. Spasmodic attendance will not answer, either. Protracted meeting Christians, dress-parade Christians, proxy Christians and sunny-day Christians never yet made a great church. As in our hodies, so in our souls we need more red blood coursing with vigor to make us equal to all demands of our religion.—Rev. J. F. Williams, D. D., of the First Baptist church.

The noblest example of humility is furnished us by our Lord Himself. He took the lowest place to show men how they might rise to the highest.—Rev. I. N. Langston of the Highland Park Baptist church.

Man's extremity is God's opportunity. Divine help comes as we need it and when we need it. Yet God will be inquired of to send help in time of need.—Rev. H. P. Bond of East El Paso Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The Christian religion is a missionary religion by virtue of its most fundamental characteristics.-Rev. Perry J. Rice of the First Christian church.

No government should be for the benefit, glory or pleasure of the ruler, but solely for the good of the governed.—Rev. W. C. Baber of the Altura Presbyterian Every real need is stilled and every vice stimulated by satisfaction.—Rev. Miles Hanson of the First Congregational church.

The Lord made us dual beings, but we cannot lives double life.-Rev. J. W. Dunn of the Church of Christ.

The habit of treating crime as a subject of jest soon makes it to be regarded as of trifling importance. Thus almost imperceptibly, the ideas of right and wong become confused.—Rev. Henry Easter of the Church of St. Clement.

If in times to come, it chance that any of you continue to remember a servant of God that dwelt among you, remember that he claimed nothing for himself, but that he boasted a great companionship, and that he left it as his conviction that deepens with the passing years and with the progress of his nervice that "he that doeth the will of God abideth forever."—Rev. John E. Abbott of the Westmington Preshydarian church of the Westminster Presbyterian church.

Unearned, unbought, undeserved was God's gift to us, and in the same spirit of grace and ungrudging service are we to give to others; "Feely ye have received, freely give."—Rev. Chas. L. Overstreet of the First Presbyterian church.

In malice be ye children. The malice of children is as the morning cloud and as the dew that goeth early away.—Rev. C. K. Campbell of the Alta Vista and Highland Park Methodist churches.

Many people consider money the most valuable of all things. The truth is, there are many things so precious that money cannot buy them. Wise is that man who knows how to rightly estimate values. The Bible is the best text book on the subject.—Rev. Herman G. Porter of the First Methodist Episcopal church.

Christ is he who was to come into the world. What a tremendous fact! What a resposibility it places on everyone! For he is come that "whosever believeth in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life."—Rev. Paul G. Birkmann of the Evangelical Lutheran church.

Judging from his writings, Paul was kept constantly on his guard in order to prevent the flesh gaining the mastery over the spirit. The moral is: Christians should hold a taut rein on the flesh.—Rev. J. H. Allen of Austin Park Christian

"Flops" at Father Tim's To Remain Same During Democratic Convention
